What Are You Reading?

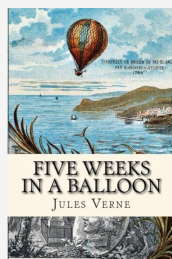

International Hot Air Balloon Week is celebrated the 4th full week of January (Jan. 25-31) in the US! There are many hot air balloon celebrations throughout the year all around the world. While you are waiting for one near you, try reading one of these titles about this way of travel! Two of these books are available as audiobooks from LibriVox & you can listen to them on your way back to campus!

LIBRARY TECHNOLOGY HELPFUL HINTS

Google Calendar

KCU is a Google campus. One nice feature of being a Google campus is the apps that you can use to stay organized! We encourage everyone to download the Google Calendar app on your cell phone. You will be able to view the calendar on your laptop or tablet. This means that no matter what device you are currently using, you will be able to see what you should be doing at any given time. The calendar will also send you reminders for meetings and class times. You can even use the Google calendar app to schedule Google virtual meetings. Need help with downloading? Stop by the library and let us help you!

Celebrate Puzzle Day!

National
Puzzle Day

On Thursday, January 29, Young Library will be celebrating National Puzzle Day! There will be puzzles spread out on every table in the Library for the day. Students, faculty, and staff are all encouraged to come by and work on a puzzle!

Those who choose to participate will have their name placed in a drawing for a $25 gift certificate to Amazon. On Friday, January 30, 3 winners will be chosen and contacted by email.

Make sure to stay updated with our puzzle progress by visiting Young Library's Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram pages!
